PIKEVILLE COLLEGE

A Higher Education Learning Game

In 1889, three Presbyterian ministers from Ashland, Kentucky, presented the idea of beginning a Christian school in the mountains of Eastern Kentucky. It was the exciting prospects of providing a solid Christian education that prompted the Ebenezer Presbytery to begin the Pikeville Collegiate Academy, the school that would evolve into PIKEVILLE COLLEGE.

Right: Monica, Jessica, and Rob get some hands-on personal money management skills by playing the classic game, Monopoly.

Right: Mr. Monopoly reminds us, "It's all about the students!"

The Rules of Pikeville College

Object: Graduation

Length of Game: 4-5 of the best years of your life.

Number of Players: 850

Getting Started: Apply with Office of Admissions. Fill out FASFA and financial aid forms. Consult with Academic Advisor. Visit Registrar's Office and Business Office. Good luck!

Game Play: Go to class, take notes, study, write papers, and take exams. Go to next class and repeat.

How to Win: Graduate with honors and change our world, one graduate at a time.

LIFE AROUND PC

READY, SET, GO!

ORIENTATION, POSTER SALE, INFLATABLES, AND CONVOCATION

Welcome Back to campus in style

In Memory of Janice Ford

church and community. In 1997, she received the Pikeville Woman's Club plaque for Appreciation for Volunteer Services.

"Being from Pikeville, I find that being of service to the local and regional community is second-nature to me," said Ford.

In her adult years, she was named Who's Who Among America's Teachers for five consecutive years, received the Teacher of the Year Award at Pikeville College, and was named an Outstanding Teacher of America by the Pikeville Woman's Club.

Ford was a member of the Pikeville Church of Christ on Third Street for more than three decades. Her primary ministry in the past several years was being the baker for the church's bread ministry, literally baking hundreds of loaves of bread for first-time church visitors.

For their 35th wedding anniversary Bob had written a poem just for Janice. He had this poem published in the local newspaper on their anniversary. As was her custom, she read the morning newspaper and came out crying. She had read the poem and was very touched. "...Her lovely features serve to adorn the goodness of heart; Cause underneath that flawless skin and features so sublime, Lies a soul that's pure and sweet, like gold that's been refined. ..." Bob had written.

"One of the things I have come to respect through Janice's example is the value of nurturing, supportive element of teaching," said Pat Kowalok, professor of art. "I know of many times when she would provide advice, extra help with studies, encouragement—she was an excellent cheerleader for her students—and it was always given with a genuine sweetness."

Ford once said, "I love being part of this community, and I love Pikeville College, and the people in Pikeville know it!"

By Sarah Hughes, Senior

Poet Ralph Waldo Emerson once said, "Love of beauty is taste. The creation of beauty is art." Janice Beeler Ford, associate professor of art, taught us all something about the beauty of art.

Ford was born on Oct. 29, 1942, in Pikeville, Ky., and went on to be with our Lord and Savior on Feb. 28, 2007.

Ford graduated from Pikeville College in 1963 with a baccalaureate degree in elementary education and a minor in art after three years. On July 28, she married Bobby L. Ford, and they enjoyed 43 wonderful years of marriage.

She began teaching at the age of twenty at Johns Creek Elementary and later at Pikeville Independent Schools, teaching both elementary and secondary art. Ford was named Teacher of the Year in 1968 and honored as an Outstanding Young Woman of America three years later.

She joined the faculty at Pikeville College in 1972 where she taught for 33 years. She requested maternity leave in the fall of 1978 because of the birth of her only daughter, Laura Ruth Ford Hall, who was born on Dec. 15. Hall is also a Pikeville College alumna. Janice was her daughter's "biggest fan," attending all of her performances.

"You could always go and talk to her," said Monica Orsborne, art major.

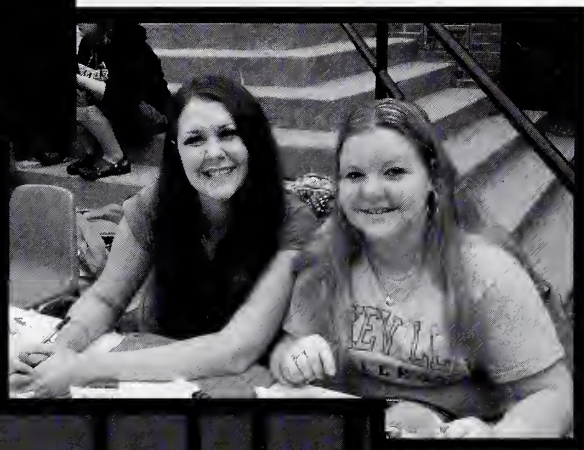

Ford was also involved in her

In Tribute to Travis Alan Hall

1983-2007

Travis Alan Hall, 23, of Pikeville, Ky., formerly of Ashland, Ky., died Saturday morning, July 7, 2007, from injuries he received in an automobile accident in Ashland.

Mr. Hall was born Aug. 10, 1983, in Ashland, a son of Greg and Devonna Harr Hall of Lake Somerset, Mich.

He was a pharmaceutical representative with Bristol Meyers-Squibb Co. During the 2006-07 academic year, he was an admissions counselor at Pikeville College.

He was of the Church of God faith. He was a 2001 graduate of Boyd County High School, where he played on the 2001 state baseball championship team, and a 2005 graduate of Pikeville College, where he played on the baseball team all four years. He was an avid sportman and loved hunting, fishing, golf and softball.

In addition to his parents, Mr. Hall is survived by a brother, Bryan (Ashley) Hall of Louisville, Ky.; his maternal grandmother, Frankie Harr of Lake Somerset; paternal grandparents Price and Ruby Hall of Ashland; uncles Harold (Jane) Harr, Larry (Marsha) Harr, Jeff (Annette) Hall and Tim (Pam) Hall; aunt Melanie (Larry) Barker; godparents Tim and Pam Howard; special friend Kyla Ahn of Pikeville; and numerous loving cousins, co-workers and friends.

A D.O. is a Doctor of Osteopathic Medicine. D.O.s take a "whole person" approach to health care. D.O.s understand how all the body's systems are interconnected and how each one affects the others. D.O.s bring a caring and compassionate feel to the workplace. Many people prefer this atmosphere compared to that of an M.D.'s office. For that reason, even though D.O.s only make up 7 percent of physicians in America, they see over 18 percent of the patients. Each year, over 100 million patient visits are made to D.O.s.

Founding Dean leaves lasting impression on profession

Dr. Strosnider, 59, the founding dean of the Pikeville College School of Osteopathic Medicine and president of the American Osteopathic Association, passed away June 21, 2007, at Cleveland Clinic from complications related to pancreatic cancer. A memorial service in July provided an opportunity for family, friends, colleagues, students and the community to share their wonderful memories of Dr. Strosnider's personal and professional accomplishments.

"We have lost a great educator, physician and friend," said Pikeville College President Harold H. Smith. "John's vision and work will continue to impact the lives of thousands of individuals he never knew."

Dr. Strosnider became the first employee of the Pikeville College School of Osteopathic Medicine in 1996, accepting the challenge of building a first-class medical school from the ground up. He achieved that lofty goal – and then some.

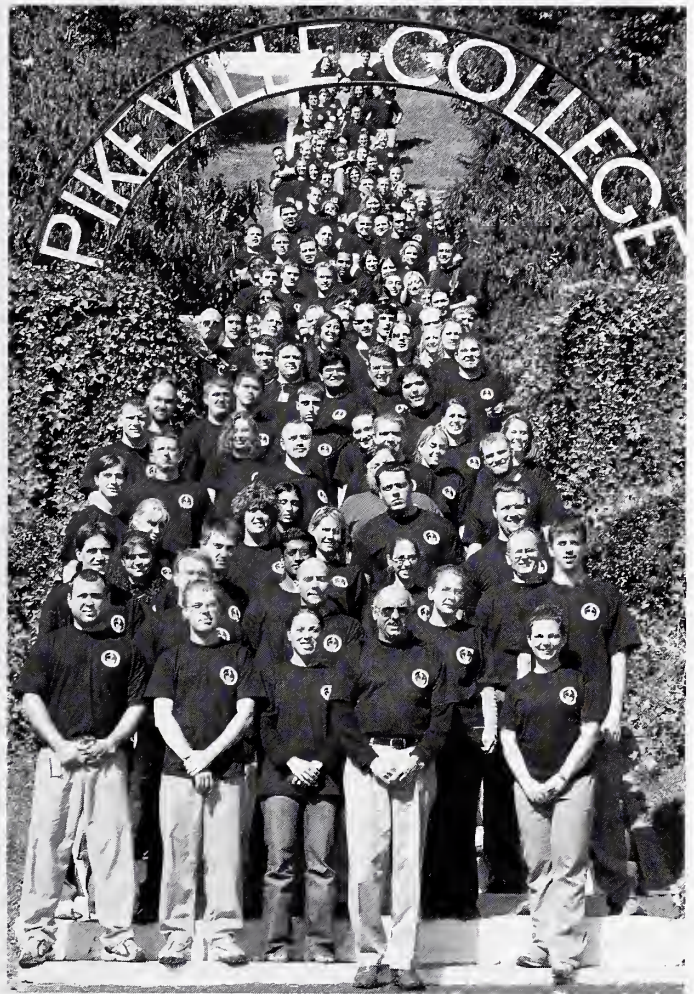

The School of Osteopathic Medicine opened in the fall of 1997 with 60 students, and has produced more than 400 physicians in the first seven graduating classes. More than 150 of the new physicians have finished their residence requirements and started practicing medicine. In keeping with the school's mission, many of them have located in the Central Appalachian region. In fact, 55 of the new physicians have opened offices within a two-hour drive of Pikeville.

Pikeville students and alumni stand out for their commitment and care for patients as "whole" persons, a philosophy embedded in the school's psyche by Dr. Strosnider's caring presence and leadership.

At the time of his passing, Dr. Strosnider was serving as president of the American Osteopathic Association, the highest honor in the osteopathic profession. It is the first time that a physician from Kentucky has held this position of leadership in the 56,000-member organization.

He will be deeply missed.

Words of Gratitude

Putting together a yearbook is a tremendous undertaking, one which I do not do alone. I am blessed to have a tremendous amount of support, and I hope to remember most of you who have made this year's book possible. My special thanks and gratitude to anyone and everyone who contributed photos – they are truly what makes the book a special treasure in the years to come.

Brigitte LaPresto, the chair of the Humanities Division, supports the production of the book through the division and communication curriculum, and I thank her. A BIG thank is due to two offices on campus: Public Affairs and Information Technology. Special gratitude to Terry Spears, Lucy Holman, and Stephanie Sciltner, who help in any way they can, including setting up our campus photo shoots with our photographer, Doug. PCIT helps any time I call, and I appreciate all they do. Thanks for always responding quickly.

Many students contributed to this year's book, but two especially went above and beyond the call of duty: sophomore Jessica Casey and senior Amber Thacker. Amber worked hard during Summer I on many pages, and Jessica worked all summer helping to make each page a special memory. Thanks to Tonya Amburgey, who agreed to take the course, even though she didn't need it, just so she could edit the sports section.

We have the best Josten's representative, Billy Hargis, who spends much time with us on campus whenever needed. Without him, we would be lost.

Finally, I have to thank my angel and my daughter, Amanda Mae, who spends many long hours in the computer lab with her momma – she can use PageMaker as well if not better than some of my students. And, she puts up with my attending any and all PC events in order to take needed photos.

This year has been an especially sad one on the hill. I dedicate this book to the memories of Janice Ford, John Strosnider, and Travis Hall. They were colleagues and friends. Thanks to my close friend, Laura Ford Hall, for sharing family photos with us.

A yearbook should be a lasting tribute to everyone's days on the hill, and I truly hope this book will be one that you treasure in years to come.

God Bless,

Chandra K. Massner
